Senior Project Manager

A large healthcare client is looking for Project Managers who will be responsible for planning and managing IT projects of moderate to medium complexity, including planning, execution, scheduling, definition of product functionality, and cost/budget development and tracking. Project Managers work with IT&S Product Owners, and Solution Leaders to define a project's objectives and scope; work across IT&S organization to acquire resources and form project teams; estimate project schedule and costs; manage the work of team members and third-party contractors, consultants, vendors, to delivery IT products according to plan, schedule, and budget. Project Manager IIs oversee projects from initiation, to development of the defined results, and through deployment of the product, including turnover to the appropriate systems support and user support organizations.

- Directs and manages projects from beginning to end.
- Develops labor estimates, schedules, milestones, deliverables, overall plans for projects, and cost estimates.
- Organizes project work into manageable groups

Top Skills:

- 1) PM's must have a Defined-Repeatable process for project management. PMP or another industry certification (six sigma) or mgt degree.
- 2) Someone w/ a technical (development) background works best.
- 3). Experience w/ enterprise wide environments.

Also, ability to work in ambiguous environment--project never done before
